

Prestige BioPharma Limited (“PBP”) Data Protection Policy

1. This website is owned and managed by PBP.

Collection of Personal Data

2. In line with PBP's business operations, PBP (including its related corporations, subsidiaries, affiliates, and associated companies) may collect and retain, as necessary and to the extent permitted by law, information about individuals, for effective delivery of services to the public and to facilitate its communications with the public and private sectors. The types of PBP's business operations may include but not limited to:
  - Day-to-day business and administrative operations of PBP, including but not limited to employment management, recruitment activities, procurement of products/services.
  - Processing of employment applications
  - Corporate governance (including internal and company audits) and policy reviews.
  - Security and risk management
  - Legal and regulatory requirements (including providing assistance to law enforcement, judicial and other government agencies)
  - Administering and managing relevant relationships to conduct and further the business operations of PBP.
  - Facilitating communications with individuals in connection with services provided by PBP.
  - Any other purposes reasonably related to the above
3. PBP is committed to respecting the privacy of every visitor and user of this website and takes its responsibility to protect any personal information received seriously and keeps such personal information securely and confidentially to prevent unauthorized use.
4. In order to serve the visitors and users of this website in an efficient and effective manner, PBP implements reasonable measures and maintains appropriate security technologies for the protection and proper safeguarding of every personal data as provided by the visitors and users of this website.
5. In any event the visitors and users of this website provide PBP with any personal data belonging to and/or relating to a third person (e.g., information about spouse, children, parents, employees, etc.) by submitting any such information to PBP, said visitors and users of this website represent that they have obtained the relevant consent of any such third person to provide PBP with their personal data.

6. For the avoidance of doubt, this policy is not intended to supersede or replace any consent previously provided to PBP.

Sharing and Disclosure of Personal Data

7. Personal data collected by PBP may be shared with the relevant regulatory authority for healthcare professionals, statutory bodies, and public agencies for the purpose of complying with their respective requirements, policies, and directives.
8. Any personal data provided to PBP may also be shared among PBP's appointed service providers performing data processing services to PBP and authorised third party organisations providing and/or administering various PBP programmes and schemes.
9. PBP ensures that the organisations mentioned in paragraph 7 and 8 above with which personal data provided to PBP may be shared, adhere to, and observe adequate and reasonable data protection safeguards and measures.

Use of Personal Data

10. PBP will not use any such personal data collected for purposes other than what PBP has informed the visitors and users of this website pursuant to PBP's data protection policy and as permitted under the applicable laws and regulations.

Retention of Personal Data

11. PBP will retain your personal data for as long as required for legal and business needs/requirements.

Miscellaneous

12. This website may contain links to other websites with data protection policies, which may be different from PBP's data protection policy in place. PBP takes no responsibility whatsoever for the contents and data protection policies of these other websites. The visitors and users of the PBP website are therefore, encouraged to consult the respective data protection policies of those other websites.
13. PBP reserves the right to revise and update this data protection policy at any time. The content presented on this page is considered the latest version. Should any modification to this data protection policy occur, PBP will post the updated version on the page in order that the visitors and users of this website are always made aware of how PBP safeguards the personal data shared.

Access to and Correction of Personal Data / Withdrawal of Consent

14. Visitors and users of this website may contact PBP's Data Protection Officer by email at dpo@pbpsg.com if they:
  - a. wish to rectify any incorrect or out-of-date personal data previously provided to PBP;
  - b. intend to withdraw any consent previously given to PBP to collect and retain any such personal data;
  - c. have any questions or feedback relating to any personal data shared with PBP; or
  - d. require more information regarding PBP's data protection policy.